TAKING OUT PAY ORE.

Bonnie Claire Sidewinder Has Good Showing.

The Bonnie Claire Sidewinder starts out with a good treasury, a good property adjoining a producing mine in a proven district, close to two railroads, a carload of ore on the dump, more ready to be taken out, and an active and efficient management. What more could be desired to insure the success of a mining venture?

The Bonnie Claire Sidewinder Mining company is the name of the company recently organized for the purpose of developing the Sidewinder group of claims which adjoins the Bonnie Claire Rattlesnake group on the north. The company is incorporated under the laws of the state of Nevada, with a capitalization of 1,250,000 shares at a par value of $1 per share, and 500,000 were placed in the treasury. They own four full claims called the Sidewinder Nos. 1, 2, 3 and the Sidewinder Extension.

The group is an early location made many years ago, but to the more recent discoverers, Tamney and Martin, is due the credit of finding the ore bodies which have since been opened up. They found two mineralized veins running parallel through the property, which to all appearances are true fissures, cutting through the granite formation. The main vein, which has been named the Sidewinder, has been opened up for a distance of 1600 feet on the surface, and is shown to be from eight to twelve feet wide.

A crosscut tunnel was run 100 feet into the hill, cutting the vein at about sixty feet depth, and the vein was then drifted on for sixty-five feet. Eighteen inches of the vein matter was clearly distinct from the other portions and numerous tests showed it to average about $40 to the ton in gold, and twelve inches averaged about $50. The highest average found across the eighteen inches was $91 and the lowest $41, the average of samples taken every two feet gave $58.15 in gold. Mr. Fagan, the manager, says this could be sorted so that twelve inches would easily average $50 to the ton in gold besides about $10 in silver and 3 per cent lead. An upraise which is being run from the drift on the vein to connect with the surface, for the purpose of improving the air, now shows average values of $48 to the ton across three feet. The ore taken out in making this upraise is being sacked for shipment, and one carload is already on the dump which is to be shipped out immediately.

When the upraise is completed, sinking will at once be started, and the drifts continued both ways on the vein. The ore is very easily mined, the 200 feet of development having been done by two men, who averaged four and a half feet per shift. The vein matter is soft and the walls hard, making timbering unnecessary. The vein itself requires no shooting. The policy outlined by the company is to start the ore production at once. The haul from the mine to the railroad will be six and a half miles, with a uniform down hill grade of about 5 per cent. They intend to adopt the same plan used by the Bonnie Claire, which is loading immense ore wagons with ten tons of ore to each wagon, and hauling two wagons, practically a carload at a time. A hoist will be installed and a large force of men put to work.

LINDSAY MINE SOLD.

The once celebrated but long forgotten silver lead mine in Union district in Eureka county, four miles east of Mineral hill, known as the Lindsay mine, has come into prominence again, a deal being consummated yesterday whereby the property is taken over by a syndicate who have already made arrangements to work the mine actively and begin shipping ore immediately. The consideration in the bond and lease is not made public but with the contemplated surface improvements and underground development that are to be instituted immediately, the proposition will stand the syndicate into six or seven figures.

The purchasers include Benjamin Lloyd, president of the Santa Cruz board of trade; Carl J. Young, the well known mining man of Tonopah; M. Kinney, the rising young bonanza king of Cripple Creek; J. J. Hennessy of Reno; John F. Murray of San Francisco, and Sol Camp of the well known firm of mining promoters of Patrick, Elliott & Camp of Reno.

The Lindsay mine comprises a group of seven claims including the patented Belle lode. It has a ledge of two and a half to sixteen feet wide with a silver bearing lead ore, chiefly cerussite, out of the ordinary values. A series of assays made by H. W. Young gives an average of 61 to 71 per cent lead, and from 17 to 19 ounces of silver, or $82.30 in silver and lead values a ton.

Twenty years ago this month the mine made a 20-day run which brought gross returns of $24,000 as per an accounting then in the Elko County bank. The mine was originally discovered by J. Lindsay and came to the notice of Carl J. Young, who was instrumental in putting through the present deal, about twenty years ago, when he and "Dick" Brown, now of the University of Nevada, hauled a smelter from Paliades to the mine. The property became idle through the sickness of the original owner and has since been tied up in the Lindsay estate. The estate will draw royalties from the present operators until full title is turned over to them.

GOLD CIRCLE THE NEW ELDO-RADO.

Reports continue coming in to the effect that the recent gold discovery at Squaw valley is proving to be the greatest gold country ever known.

E. E. Starrett of this place, who visited the Gold Circle camp this week, brought in another lot of fine specimens of free gold from the sensational strike that was made several weeks ago and which is attracting wide attention on account of the bonanza character of the ore and the apparently unlimited extent of the surface enrichment.

Already several new strikes have been made since the first startling discovery was reported, which extends the fabulous mineral zone over an immense area. The last strikes are said to be as rich as the first, and much of the rock brought here appears to have been broken from croppings or dykes above the surface. This ore is literally filled with free gold, the particles varying in size from the proportions of a mustard seed to a $5 gold piece. One party came into town a few days ago with a hat full of the rock, any piece of which would assay away up into the thousands.

At the original strike an armed man stands guard over the treasure vault in order to prevent the carrying off of the rich rock, a few pounds of which would be worth a great many dollars.

The new country has been staked off for twelve miles square, and almost everywhere, it is said, values can be obtained, ranging from a few dollars to several thousand.

Squaw valley, or Gold Circle, both of which names the new strike is known by, is situated about forty miles north of here, and about fifty miles northeast of Golconda. The country is very accessible from here on account of their being a road from this point to the Squaw valley ranch, which is frequently traveled and is kept in very good condition. There is talk here among the business men to the town of making some improvements on the road which leads over a more direct route than the one traveled at the present. If this is done the trip from here can be made by automobile in about three hours.

The strike has excited considerable interest here, and a number of Battle Mountain men have secured valuable holdings in close proximity to the discovery of the rich ore.

Among those who have been the most fortunate in securing advantageously located claims is August C. Lemaire. Mr. Lemaire's Indian prospectors were on the ground about the time of the original strike and succeeded in getting a group of claims within a few hundred feet of where the richest ore has been uncovered.

The strange thing about the ore occurrence is that it is found almost exclusively in huge dykes that rise up out of the earth like golden ladders, or giant nomos petrified.

Verily this section of Nevada seems destined to become the greatest mineral producing region in the world. —Battle Mountain Herald.

WELL KNOWN TURFMAN DEAD.

PUEBLO, Col., Oct. 26.—George H. Kuhl of Chicago, secretary of the National Jacking association and one of the best known race horse men in the United States, died in this city last week from intestinal tuberculosis. The body will be sent to Denver for cremation, after which the ashes will be taken to Perry, Illinois, his old home, for burial. Mr. Kuhl came to Pueblo two months ago with his family in the hope of recovering his health.

Army worms are so numerous between Campbell, Mo., and Nemours, Ark., that railway traffic has been interrupted, the worms making the rails slippery.

FINE PHOTOGRAPHS.

J. W. Smith, the Main street photographer, has been making snapshots around the town, and has made a number of fine photos of the school with all the classes in a group. Every youngster in the group can be recognized, and the sketch is particularly fine as to finish and artistic execution.

REPEAT THEIR FORMER EVIDENCE

(Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Former Supervisors Gallagher and Furey occupied the witness stand today in the Ford bribery trial. They repeated in full their confessions previously accepted at the first trial of Ford of accepting $15,000 and $4000 bribes, respectively, from Abe Ruef in behalf of the passage of the United Railroads trolley franchise. Gallagher told also of the bribing by him, as Ruef's agent, of his fellow supervisors. Cross-examinations for the defense were chiefly devoted to fixing firmly in the minds of the jury three things: That Gallagher and Furey were self-confessed perjurers and bribe-takers; that their memories were often treacherous and led them into conflicting statements, and that they had received an immunity contract as the price of their testimony against public service corporation officials accused by the Grand Jury of many bribes.

LOOK AROUND YOUR OFFICE

For ledgers, daybooks, in fact for anything that may be lacking in your office, go to the Bonanza bindery. We have samples of the style of work which is turned out, but for the matter of that one does not have to visit the bindery. There are samples of our work in nearly all the offices in the city.

Our work stands as the best recommendation of the character of the stuff that we turn out. We can do anything in our line that can be done in any of the big cities, can do it as well, and give better service in the matter of prompt delivery than any other institution of the kind in the State.

Give us a trial. We will do the rest.
